Joshua M. Wiener, PhD, Distinguished Fellow and program director of RTI's Aging, Disability, and Long-Term Care Program, appointed June 2003 (as Senior Fellow), is the author or editor of eight books and over 100 articles on health care for older people, people with disabilities, long-term services and supports, Medicaid, health reform, health care rationing, and maternal and child health. Dr. Wiener is currently involved in studies of the Hawaiian long-term care system, the long-term care workforce, risk of institutionalization, long-term care awareness and planning, and Medicare and Medicaid dual eligibles. He is also co-director of the Administration on Aging-funded Alzheimer's Disease Supportive Services Program National Resource Center. Prior to coming to RTI International, Dr. Wiener did policy analysis and research for the Urban Institute, the Brookings Institution, the Health Care Financing Administration, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the Congressional Budget Office, the New York State Moreland Act Commission on Nursing Homes and Residential Facilities, and the New York City Department of Health.
